New Era Technology's SecureBlu Security Services delivers expert leadership to help you manage cybersecurity risk, meet compliance requirements, and strengthen resilience.

Executive Cybersecurity Leadership: When & How You Need It

Whether you're building your first security program or advancing an existing one, effective leadership is key to protecting your business. Without it, overlooked risks can lead to financial losses, regulatory penalties, and reputational damage.

New Era Technology's SecureBlu's CISO Support and GRC Strategy practice delivers senior cybersecurity expertise tailored to your needs. For smaller organizations, our Virtual CISO (vCISO) service provides hands-on program leadership on a part-time basis. For larger enterprises, our CISO Support model offers targeted advisory services to help in-house CISOs tackle major initiatives such as IAM, third-party risk, cloud security, and more.

New Era's SecureBlu Security Services

Our certified experts work with all major security technologies, platforms, and regulations, and are authorities in leading frameworks. This enables us to tailor a security solution that is appropriate for your specific business.
