

Design Service Project Review for a Global Investment Group

A New Era Technology Project Highlight

Overview

Our client, a Global Investment Group, made the decision to standardize AV systems company-wide. With campuses all over the world, each equipped with conference rooms, huddle spaces, training areas, and multi-purpose rooms, they sought to maximize efficiency and maintain familiarity.

New Era Technology developed a Master Equipment List, System Description Narrative, Design Guideline, and Infrastructure Requirement Drawing Set for them to use and reference.

Our client can now select AV room types from a predefined list of options and request the proper room dimensions and architectural guidelines from their representatives and construction managers before the AV design phase begins.
